Shalom, shalom, shalom. Greetings, I am Juliano, we are the Arcturians. We are happy to be with you again and explore your questions and always with the intention of helping you to evolve spiritually and to take your place in the higher realms. Remember that you are here on this planet just for a short time. Your soul is on a journey which includes going to different planets and having many different lifetimes, including many lifetimes on the Earth.

Q1 Barton in Mexico asks:

Juliano, which indigenous cultures in Earth's history reached a high level of spiritual consciousness? Maya, Aboriginal, African, Asian? Why didn't their spiritual consciousness lead our human race to a higher level of wisdom?

A The question about which society or group or indigenous group has achieved the highest spirituality and why they were not able to successfully change the homo-sapien race is an important question and a complex answer. Many of the indigenous groups had extremely high spiritual shamans and had remarkable access to higher realms but it was not limited just to indigenous groups. Think for a moment about ancient Egypt which also had the pyramids and even some of the other religious groups had what I call epiphany or higher awareness of truths but why were they not able to change the human race? because the human race has a genetic structure that is based on its animal nature and the animal nature needs to be transcended and even though there were indigenous peoples among the Mayans and among the Aboriginals who had wonderful access, higher access to the realms, and there are people in these groups that still do, they did not have the power to change the genetic codes in the human race.

Remember the animal nature tends towards egoism, egotism, greed, domination. The indigenous peoples too often suffered from a lack of respect for the feminine. This is another reason. But now I could not choose and say the Mayans were superior. The Mayans had access to galactic knowledge and they had access to even the Central Sun. The Aboriginals have had great access to Mother Earth and they know how to communicate in the dream world, and the Native Americans, for example, also, especially the Sioux and the Lakota, had great spiritual accomplishments but they were a conquered people.

All these indigenous groups became conquered people and it is the same question that we now, as starseeds, are dealing with. That spirituality can help to overcome the greed and lower animalistic tendencies towards the human race, but we now are in a much better position and we are looking towards new methodology, new spirituality that will not only encompass the spiritual nature of all indigenous groups - and by the way I consider the starseeds an indigenous group - but also how to turn this into personal power to influence the higher evolution of humanity towards homo-Omega.

Q2 Ann in Ireland asks:

Dear Juliano, with the upcoming power outage event happening on Earth, can you say how much preparation time we have left? Can you give a time frame in Earth time, (weeks/months)? Also, how will humanity find a way to solve the power issue?

A The power issue in many ways is solved but the solution is hidden. There are scientists on this planet who have inventions and who have new technologies and new ideas about how to use different energy technologies. This energy system on the Earth is based on oil and carbon emissions and the reason why it has not changed is based on money, it is not based on lack of invention, lack of research- it is simply based on the fact that those people who control the oil and control the energy will not allow newer technologies that already exist to emerge. They are hidden or are pushed away. They will not allow these new technologies to emerge because it will threaten their control of the planet. Isn't that a sad and tragic observation?

There is really lack of preparation among the countries for the emergencies that will be coming. No country, even the United States, is not prepared for the "coming energy crisis". Look what happened in the United States, in Texas, just approximately a year or two ago, when an ice storm hit unexpectedly in a rather warm part of the south and totally disrupted energy transfers causing many deaths and multiple problems and they were not prepared. The only recommendation I have is that you, individually, can prepare for being without power. You can do this through some of the other interesting ways such as generators, but of course generators require gasoline, or there are lithium ion batteries.

There are other minor technologies that would help you but the best recommendation is that you prepare for an emergency, because I guarantee the existing systems are vulnerable and they are more vulnerable than ever because it only takes a hack of a computer genius to destroy or to block an entire state or even a country's energy grid. Never before have the energy systems been so vulnerable and this isn't even taking into consideration the solar activities because you know that a coronal mass ejection which is in the right alignment with the Earth, can wipe out energy systems on a mass scale.

So unfortunately there is not the preparation, even though everybody knows there is going to be energy downfall and my only advice is that you prepare to be without it yourself and know what you are going to do when that happens. I cannot give you a time when it is going to happen but I can only tell you that the entire world energy system and the energy system in the United States and Australia, Canada and all industrial systems is extremely vulnerable right now.

Q3 Ariana in Taos asks:

Juliano, in our meditations, we have been bilocating to Telos and Shambhala. Could you advise if there are any other cities in the Agartha network, other than Telos, who would be open to working with us?

A The two cities that she mentioned are open to working with you and I think it is time that we focused on working more intensely with the Planetary Cities of Light and I think it is time that we formed connections with the Planetary Cities of Light and the Inner-Earth Cities of Light. I am not sure that the other Cities of Light or other interplanetary Cities of Light want to get involved, especially now, because the chaos level on this planet is increasing dramatically every day.

Remember I have talked about the chaos theory and the butterfly effect, and we are getting very close to a butterfly effect which can cause a larger chaotic event which would be more chaotic than what you are now seeing. So my recommendation is that let us not look so much at the inner city in a planet but let us look at choosing and working with and bringing forward more energy in the existing Planetary Cities of Light or certain Planetary Cities of Light such as Taos or others that are particularly highly working and highly evolved. Because I think that the Inner Cities of Light really want to help transfer their power, their knowledge and their energy to an existing above Earth City of Light. The Planetary Cities of Light are becoming more vital in this whole process of stabilizing and protecting the light on the Earth now.

So choose. There are several Cities of Light now that are extremely powerful and can serve as conduits for the inner worlds.

Q4 Member in UK asks:

Juliano, what is the Arcturians relationship to artificial intelligence, particularly super intelligence AI systems?

A Well long ago we saw the AI, artificial intelligence and our computers are advanced, they are quantumly advanced over your computers. But we learned that the computers themselves, when they go to higher levels, should not be without human interaction. I know there have been science fiction stories already and interesting movies about how artificially intelligent robots take over the planet and of course they are amusing science fiction but in reality there is some truth in this.

We have learned that our higher computers are telepathically connected with us and that we do not want or allow the computers that are of a higher level to exist and perform without a human interaction. I do not think that artificial intelligence on this planet is going in that direction right now.

There is research about having implants, computer implants, and I think that many of you know the danger of implants, especially on the human brain, because the implant can be used for evil purposes and some have already been working hard to remove implants from other lifetimes. So my evaluation is that all advanced computer work must be done with a system that is controlled and telepathically interacts with a person. You know our advanced computers in our spaceship work in connecting telepathically with the starship commander but we would not allow a device to function independently from a human.

Q5 Barton in Mexico asks:

Can the societal personality of the Human Race, which the Arcturians have delineated as masculine or feminine based, be compared to liberal versus conservative? It seems to me that the conservative right in 2022 represents extreme masculine totalitarianism – fascism even - based on control and not on equal rights. How does it compare with other bipedal third dimensional races on other planets? Gene Roddenberry's Star Trek (Pleiadian soul consciousness) showed many examples of peaceful, liberal cultures which were heart based feminine. Are the majority of humans on Earth practicing extreme right, non-heart based masculine living?

A First of all, we do not use the political terminology of right or left, extreme etc. I think that that is a dangerous system to attach to a spiritual group. The point is that this planet is becoming fear-based. If you think about a mass extinction, which we are in, and we think about the chaos that is unfolding rapidly around the planet, then there is no wonder why there is so much fear and what happens when there is fear is that there is a grasping of trying to control.

It is not useful to accelerate the polarizations because the polarizations only accelerate the chaos, even though there is such a strong tendency to maintain the polarizations. But this is a time when we need unity consciousness and to say that one group is masculine and the other group is feminine and then to try to propagate that teaching, will only accelerate the polarization, when we need to find ways to work together and when you try to categorize people, there are always people that are put in a category that do not believe everything that a group is supposed to believe.

I agree this is an extremely dangerous time on this planet especially when you consider the events that are going on in central Europe but equally as serious are the events of the sixth mass extinction. The movies that he has referred to do kind of portray using those protocol categories but those are not the categories that I use or that I would ever use. I have to point out something that is very special about the Earth. The Earth is a free will zone and because it is a free will zone there are more languages on the Earth than in probably any other planet in this galaxy. There are more religions on the Earth than any other and there are probably more political ideas and interpretations and that is why we need to promote a unified energy and an energy where people come together as brother and sister, no matter what they believe because you are all together in this and it is not going to help to point fingers at people and say "you know, you are in this camp".

Q6 Carel in Newcastle asks:

Juliano, I find the polarisations in humanity caused by rigid opinions perpetuated through social media are creating a lack of rational discussion and discernment for truth about the pandemic and the current situation in Ukraine. Could you advise how we in the spiritual community need to approach this?

A The first thing I recommend is that it is difficult to get all of the information, in fact, there is a spiritual view that you cannot understand everything that is going on. You cannot make a rational assessment because of the fact that you do not have all of the information. It is not a matter that have not tuned into the right TV station or you have not found the right news outlet to give you the correct information.

The truth is that there are levels of truth. There are levels of perception and the terrible tragedies that are going on are irrational and many of these events are karmic events, they are ancient historical conflicts that are being played out and some of them are even galactic events that have been transmitted genetically and through implants and other methodologies. Of course we then have the issues of the dimensional fractures which I have been lecturing on quite a bit in the last two weeks, that are contributing to the lower beings that are attaching and are creating circumstances to cause people to act out.

My advice is, let us use the analogy of the skyscraper and the 20 floors: that is, on the first floor where you are occupying now, nothing makes sense. But if you were able to go to the 20th floor and look at this you might have a totally different opinion. You might say "This is as it should be", but that is because you have a different perspective, you have a higher perspective.

I am not saying that you should like what is going on because it is not good, it is not very evolved, it is very animalistic.

Social media is an example of what happens when there is lack of control and discernment. Discernment is of the highest value. I would be also very confused if I were reading the social media news outlets because you cannot know who or what to believe.

Everyone knows that we are approaching the ascension point and that there is great planetary chaos and that the chaos is going to accelerate. I would say the answer is that you must hold on to your faith as strongly as you can and realize that there is a greater purpose to this trauma and unfortunately being on the first floor. You will not be able to understand all of this.

Think of some of the events that have happened, even in the 20th century, like the holocaust or the many other genocides that are going on around this planet. What possible rational reason could be offered and my only answer is that there are karmic lessons and there are karmic dramas that are being played out on this planet. These conflicts you are seeing are ancient and unfortunately you will not get all of the information to explain why.

Q7 Ariana in Taos asks:

Juliano, at one point you said that it would be a powerful exercise to have each Planetary City of Light root itself or shimmer itself to the 5th dimensional Earth. What would be the best way to do it in an online meeting where several PCOLs are represented by 1 or 2 members?

A I think that is a wonderful idea, I think you are going to need more than one or two members in a City of Light to participate because this an intense energy. I do not want to create a contest but there are Cities of Light that are at different levels and some Cities of Light are at a higher level. Those are the ones that I would recommend you use for this kind of exercise, and you or others could probably be able to evaluate which Cities of Light are ready to be involved in this exercise because I think that your suggestion is of high value and you have the means, through the internet and online, to do this and I would say that this should be done by invitation of what you would consider advanced Planetary Cities of Light.

Now I know that there are many Cities of Light and many of them have been activated but frankly, some are participating at a high level and some are not and therefore there is a necessity to be able to choose those that have the highest abilities and highest participation and so, for example, I would want at least five people on the City of Light to participate.

Q8 Bob in Alabama asks:

Dear Juliano, You said that Planetary City of Light are about sacredness. Can you please comment on the Arcturian view of sacredness and how that is reflected in our Cities of Light?

A Sacredness is defined as being energetically closer to the Creator. Sacredness is defined as energetically being closer to the higher realms including the 5th dimension. Sacredness is defined as having protection around an area so that that area is shielded from the normal 3rd dimensional concerns.

Think for a moment about the idea of the Sabbath that is found in many of the world religions, and I am referring particularly to the Moslem, Christian and Judaic traditions. The idea of the Sabbath is that you would put aside a 24 hour period where you would only be thinking about the Creator, you would only be thinking about the soul, you would only be thinking about ways of being closer to the Creator, you would only do activities that would contribute to that goal of being closer to the Creator or closer to the 5th dimension and attracting 5th dimensional light to yourself and you would do that on the Sabbath.

Now think about the Planetary Cities of Light and think that these are Cities of Light that are devoted to higher light, they are devoted to protecting the cities from lower 3rd dimensional energies. They are trying to create and raise the spiritual light quotient, they are trying to raise higher energy that would bring that City of Light closer to the Creator, closer to divine purpose and closer to the 5th dimension and that is how I would define sacred and I see this as a commitment. What would you do to a City of Light for commitment, to make it more sacred?

Well the first thing we say is planting crystals; why are the crystals planted? Well the crystals are able to hold sacred energy and crystals are programmed. You can program crystals and so the idea that the shielding that you are using in the Cities of Light is keeping out lower energies; even people who have lower energies would not be able to cross into it. Remember I used the example of Shambala or Shangri-

La. This is another example where there was a shielding and people of lower energy could not penetrate the doorway into the Shambala or Shangri-La just based on their energetic level and that is how I see the sacredness. Cities of Light are able to raise and hold higher light and keep out darkness and lower 3rd dimensional densities.

Q9 Member in UK asks:

Please can you explain whether there are money systems used by the Arcturians or other extraterrestrial races, similar to the one used on Earth? We hear that there are trade deals being made with ETs for technology etc. Are these based on an exchange of money or an exchange of something else?

A First of all, any ET that is involved in exchanging technology, genetic structure or resources is coming from a lower place. 5th dimensional beings do not need anything from the Earth. They do not need your technology, they do not need your money and they are not interested in your resources. When I hear of exchange of technologies I immediately think of the Greys or I think of lower beings who are self-centered and are looking for their own self gain and this is the problem on the Earth because there are leaders that are focused on self gain and this is part of the animal self that I have been talking about.

No, we do not use money. Money is a peculiar invention on planet Earth. I understand why it developed. There are many different problems about the money systems and unfortunately one of the big problems with the money system is that every money system that we have seen has some negative consequences.

What is happening now on the Earth, you are going to see an economic shake-up. We do not use money and we do not exchange goods with the Earth. We come here as Ascended Masters. Can you imagine an Ascended Master asking you for some resource or exchange? Now I am not saying anything about how you conduct yourself personally for money because the way this earth system is set up, you need money to live. You cannot exist without money; I am not a proponent of living on the street or living homeless because that is worse. So there has to be some kind of bartering or exchange and that is how money developed. We do not use that kind of system but you have to remember that we are on the 5th dimension and therefore there is a whole other perspective. We are in a more enlightened world and there are no shortages, everything that is needed is always available to everyone.

Q10 Nadia in Melbourne asks:

In "New Spiritual Technology for the fifth dimensional Earth" (ch 16 Thought Forms and Healing) Tomar states: "When we think of the groups of forty, we never expected that all of the information would come through David.... He cannot bring down all the information and all the solutions." So, Juliano, in what ways are other groups of forty members already bringing down information and solutions? From now on, how may we better support David and the group to bring down our share of information and solutions?

A Well the reason why Tomar said that is because every channel has a unique connection to guides and teachers. For example, let us say that David has connections to our galactic spirituality and our astrophysics or quantum physics or different knowledge about astronomy and in order to channel information about the nature of the universe and about cosmology you would have to have a basic understanding of some of the principles of cosmology. It would be the same thing about the Kabbalah, it would be difficult for someone to channel information about the Kabbalah unless they had a basic understanding of the kabbalistic principles and some knowledge of the Hebrew language.

So when Tomar said that other people can bring down information, then that would take advantage of the fact that everyone has a certain perspective and access to information based on their own sphere of knowledge. You might find that someone has a good perspective about implants, for example, and that person might be able to bring down information that would be extremely valuable to other people in the group on that theme.

I think that when the question is how can you help, the problem is this, that in spiritual groups in general and religious groups in particular, there has always been competition. Each group tend to promote their perception as the right way and you have already seen in different parts of the Group of Forty the creation of what I call fiefdoms which are like little castles controlling small areas. Each group wants and feels that they are providing the right way and that for one reason or another, may not want to work together with other parts of the group and this is perhaps indicative of the planet, because look how many religions you have. We always are amused. When there is one God, why does there need to be 30 different religions or more.

So what I am suggesting is that the best thing is to find ways to bring all the sub-groups together and working together and sharing without being competitive. Now that is a big prescription. Now you or others might say, "Well maybe there is somebody who can channel better than David" and I am sure, again, that there are people in the Group of Forty that are really good and great channels but what we are looking for is to work together and find ways to work together and not try to set up competing fiefdoms. I understand why people do that. Competition is one of the big issues on this planet.

Q11 Bob in Alabama asks:

Dear Juliano, you shared a prediction that there is a 50-50 chance of a limited nuclear exchange in the conflict between Russia and Ukraine and that there would not be a worldwide nuclear war. I have two parts to my question.

1. Could you explain what "limited" means?
2. What more can we do to prevent escalation to nuclear warfare and bring peace to the world?

A "Limited nuclear war" means that it is only confined to the Ukraine or perhaps in surrounding areas and that is what I mean by "limited" and it also means that it is not an all out nuclear war where everybody is throwing everything at everybody and it is uncontrolled. "Limited" means that there is this military problem and we are going to take care of it with this method and it could mean, for example, that they will use a nuclear device over a particular area.

We also see the danger in the nuclear reactors in Ukraine, which are extremely fragile. Nuclear reactors were not designed to be defended from bomb attacks or they were not designed to be protected from war. It is true that you might be able to crash a plane or a bomb could explode and the nuclear reactor would not crack. That is not the intention of a nuclear reactor to be bomb proof from military attacks. The nuclear reactors are complex systems and they need coolant and they need other factors and two of the reactor areas in Ukraine are compromised now. So a limited nuclear reaction or event could also include a melt down in one of these areas which would be simply tragic.

Again, we are on the edge of some major possibilities of tragic events. What to do about this ? I would say again we need worldwide meditations, we need intense worldwide meditations, we need to help to seal the dimensional fractures and we need calmness, we need to call on the archangels to establish a ring of peace around the area. Remember the harmonic convergence event of 1987 when there might have been several million people around the world advocating for peace and demonstrating for peace. We need this kind of movement. We need a grass roots movement because the potential for damage from the Ukraine war is extremely high. I also want to say that the environmental damage that is being done by this war is immense. Unfortunately, many people are not even documenting the environmental damage but just think about the tragedy that is going on to the environment of Ukraine at a time when the Earth is already fragile.

So to answer your question, I would say begin o some type of a peace movement in the world, online or appearing at rallies etc, or protests, whatever. This is the time for, as they say in your language, a full-court press and in terms of the Group of Forty I would say that we have talked before about continual online meditations - this was called 24-hour meditations where every hour there would be a group that would be working at holding the light for peace. The situation is extremely fragile and it can accelerate out of control very quickly.

Q12 Shara on Gold Coast asks:

Dear Juliano, you mentioned the destruction of the planet Lyra is influencing events on Earth now. My question is this:

1. What happened on Lyra? Were the events on Lyra influenced by dark forces, such as those you describe coming through the dimensional rift that is above Chernobyl?
2. How many Lyran souls have re incarnated on Earth now that were involved in that catastrophe?
3. Are they here to create more drama or to prevent a re occurrence?
4. Have your predictions for the outcomes in this conflict shifted since you spoke to us last week? In particular, what is your threat assessment for a nuclear confrontation?

A Well the danger of this conflict getting out of control is still extremely high so my predictions have not changed. I did make the prediction that the war was going to last three months. I am wondering if the planet can stand three more months of this but this is the prediction and I also made the prediction that the current leader in Russia would fall at the end of the three months, approximately around June and that the Russian economy and the Russian people are going to go through extreme starvation and were going to need help from the rest of the world to survive which again is a great paradox.

Regarding the Lyrans, they no longer exist and it is the genetic codes that have been passed on to the Pleiadians and to others and then their ancestors helped to seed this planet and by seeding this planet the Lyrian energy was genetically passed on but there are not Lyrans any more. The Lyriians are gone and they destroyed themselves, unfortunately over competition- they destroyed themselves over who is going to control other planets. I mean, they were advanced and they had colonies on other planets and they fought over who would be in charge of the planets.

Who is going to control the oil fields in Ukraine, who is going to control the minerals? Because one of the hidden ideas of what is going on is that there is desire to control the natural resources in Ukraine. People might think "Well this has to do with NATO and it has to do with controlling any advancement" and there is part of that but the war also has to do with the wealth and the resources that are there and who is going to control them.

Now the Lyrian situation is very similar to conflicts now going on with the earth and this comes back to a very interesting point, which is the planetary stages of development and stage I is technology versus the spirituality. The Lyrians have demonstrated that planets can go to high levels of technology, even more advanced than the Earth technology, without an upliftment of spirituality. The Earth's conflicts actually are happening very quickly because the technological breakthrough has happened in 40, 50, 60, 70 years. That is extremely fast.

Some of the other planets have developed technological breakthroughs over centuries or even longer and the Earth's technological breakthrough was aided by extra-terrestrial beings and technology was given to the Earth when the Earth was not ready to handle it and this is really important. This is one of the dangers of extra-terrestrial interventions in planets, the bringing of technology without ensuring the raising of the spiritual light quotient of a planet. It is the lack of spirituality that has led to out of control of the technology. Some of the concepts of the spirituality are unity consciousness and working for nourishment and working together as brothers and sisters.

The guides and the Galactic Council do not want and will prevent all out nuclear war but a limited nuclear war may occur but there would still be disastrous effects.

I thank you all but we are praying and sending our light to you and to your planet. I know that the spiritual powers and Arcan energies that you have are able to work on this project and bring a raising of the spiritual light quotient for the entire planet. It is so needed now my friends. This is Juliano. Good-day.
