Q1. Tim in Texas USA asks:

So Juliano, this is a follow up of my April question on feminine energies being brought down from the feminine intervention and planetary healing. In your answer to the question, you stated that we need to provide the vessel, to provide a place for them to reside in the world, for us to invite invites and connect with them, what sort of space should this be?

- 1. With this vessel or place for them to reside be cohabitational
- 2. Would it be in the planetary cities of light?
- 3. If neither, what other plays should be created? And how would we create or modify a place for them to reside?

This is Archangel Michael, and I will be helping to answer this question today about the feminine energy.

The answer to the question is all of the above, and to understand how to work with the feminine energy and how to make a place in your life for the feminine energy, I am going to talk with you today about this question from the Kabbalistic perspective. Because, the Kabbalah addresses this question specifically, and provide some very interesting answers.

From the Kabbalistic perspective, the divine feminine energy is alienated from the Earth. Now, alienation means that it is not participating. Alienation means that it is in a sense, disowned from the Earth. And one of the reasons in Kabbalah, why this world is broken, or why this world needs repair, is because the Divine Feminine has been exiled from the planet. But the Kabbalah provides some interesting guidance on how to solve this problem and, although it's perhaps a narrower perspective, than the galactic perspective, that you know you and I and the Arcturians are working with, nonetheless, it is a perspective that is worthy of our consideration and exploration. So, in Kabbalah, and, actually, in Judaism in general, the divine feminine energy returns on the Sabbath. That is the one day of the week when the divine feminine is hosted or is received in the home, in your home or in the synagogue. Now, we could discuss whether or not the Divine Feminine can only come on the Sabbath. But let's find out what their thinking is, that what does the Sabbath mean, in Kabbalah, and then we could explore further how to use that concept in the galactic energies that you and I, and a Group of Forty are working with.

The Sabbath is considered the day of rest, and it is considered a holy day. That means that one does not work on the Sabbath, one does not do any business on the Sabbath, and one devotes the Sabbath only to spiritual matters, only into working with the higher light, with the Creator. And this means that you will eat the finest foods that you can afford, you will have the finest festive dinner, you will be with your family, and you will you are creating a sacred space, so that the Divine Feminine can come to you.

Now, the word for the divine feminine in Hebrew is the Shakina. And you may have heard of that word. This Shakina means the Divine Feminine creator. Now, why is the divine feminine, exiled? And the answer is that man has become fascinated and focused on the third dimension, man has become focused on making a living, man has become focused on the materialism and the ego and gathering possessions.

You know the story here because you know what it's like to work and the idea is that the divine feminine is not going to come and reside with you, when you are in that state of consciousness. You have to be in another state of consciousness, you have to be in an expanded state of consciousness, where you are emphasizing sacred, where you are emphasizing the holiness.

Now this is another good question. Well, how do you make holiness? How do you make sacredness? And, yes, in the Planetary City of Light, you are creating a sacred space. And that is a perfect situation to invite the Divine Feminine, but you want to be in that state of consciousness. The Divine Feminine light, the Shakina, the Divine Mother will come anywhere on the planet, that you designate yourself that you create a holy place and that you act in a holy way, which, in our definition, means expanded consciousness, transcending the ego.

These are the most important things, because you could be in the middle of a boat, in the ocean, and if you can create that holy space, that sacred space, you could be in your home and have a special place where whether it be for the Sabbath, or whether it be for a holy sacred energy that you want to work on, the most important thing is that you are creating energetically, this holy and sacred place. And that's the requirement.

But let's look again at the Sabbath in the Kabbalah, because they look at the Divine Feminine almost like a bride and the male energies is the groom, and the female energy is the bride and then you are setting up a whole day, 24 hours. So, it's not something that you do in five minutes. And I would say that to create a space for the Divine Mother, then you would set upon a time and maybe even you would set upon yourself a ceremony that would welcome the Divine Feminine. The Native American peoples, especially the Lakota and others have ceremonies that welcome the Divine Feminine, welcome White Buffalo Calf Woman, and they are creating a sacred space in their teepee or in their medicine wheel. So, it's up to you on how or in what tools you're going to use for creating the sacred space to receive the divine feminine. But remember, it has to be a commitment, it has to be a place where you have expanded consciousness.

Now, what does it mean for the planet that the divine feminine, is exiled? Well, put very simply, it means that the planet cannot be repaired until there is a recognition of the Divine Mother, the Divine Feminine light, the Shakina and that She is accepted and integrated into our lives.

But how and what would that look like? Well, this is a discussion that I'm very happy to have with you. Because think about the masculine energies, which have been very domineering, especially in your lifetime and think about the feminine energies and what is the comparison? The feminine energy in the Shakina is more nurturing, is more of a compassion. But it does require limitations, it does require expanded consciousness, it does require intuition. In other words, the divine feminine requires a commitment in your spiritual development towards this type of spiritual expansion. And then you create a space. This is the problem that I think this planet is having is that there's no place for the divine feminine. It's like everybody, I say, everybody, that's not exactly true, but many people, especially people in power, are all devoted to the male energy to the masculine energy to control domination and power. But look, we're entering a new period. Some have said we're leaving one zodiac sign and going into the next and the new period needs the input of the Divine Feminine light, but it needs it in a way that meets the criteria of commitment, ceremony and sacredness.

Q2. Ariana in Taos USA asks:

Juliano, could you please give me or give us some information about the huge spiritual event that we are expecting in June 2022? Thank you.

Shalom, shalom, shalom. Greetings, this is Juliano. Let me say that instead of the huge spiritual event that we are expecting, why don't we say: the huge spiritual event that we are needing? Because there are many aspects on the planet that are out of control. There are military aspects, there are environmental aspects, there're economic aspects, I could list almost every major system that is working, that is part of the structure, that is part of the thought constellation on this planet, and almost every system is outdated. It is like this world is operating on an old program and the old program is not working. It's like you need or this world needs an update. And in every system, we've talked about the economic system, and of course, the military-political system, in all of these systems, even the religious systems, they are based on older concepts and older thinking. This means that, in order for this planet to be repaired, in order for this planet to be healed, there must be a new system, there must be a new way of thinking. I see several openings in June (2022), especially in the June solstice, which is the winter solstice for the southern hemisphere, I see the new awakening because what I see is, when I look "in my crystal ball", or my "holographic crystal ball", I see that there is a possibility of a shift in the consciousness and the shift of the system's thinking that we need, as I've pointed out, new leaders who have a different vision for this planet, who have a different vision, on how these systems are going to operate, and who understand that the old system that maybe worked in the 19th century or 20th century, and even then it didn't work that well, is not up to date.

Now, there are several possibilities on how a new system can be introduced into this planet. First Contact, there's more and more evidence coming every day about the fact that this planet has been visited and that there are some very strong possibilities that another worldwide visitation or first contact is going to happen.

Now, but what would be the point of the first contact? I mean, this is one of the things that I and the Ascended Masters have pondered. So, yes, it would be fascinating for everyone to know that there are extraterrestrial beings, and they visited the planets, but how is that going to change the planet? And the answer is that there has to be a planetary intervention, not just the appearance of a first contact, as exciting as that will be, this is not enough to repair what is broken now. That means that there has to be a sharing of knowledge, a sharing of ideas, a sharing of spirituality.

Now, the most profound and quickest sharing that would most influence or impress people has to do with energy. By energy I mean: this world is operating on an older system, the carbon-based oil system and it's not going to work anymore. You can't continue to operate on this system. And I'm not I'm not saying this out of anger. or out of hatred of oil. But if you look at the wars, if you look at the environment, and you look at the economy, you will understand immediately that the biggest resistance, the biggest problem on this planet is energy. And any species, any extra-terrestrial contact, who offers a technology of energy to a country or to a group of people would dramatically change the whole planet. But it would be so radical that those in power, those who are holding on to the oil, those who are holding on to the wealth, would resist. This is the problem. So, as I said, an extra-terrestrial first contact to come in and explain to you how, for example, you can get all the power you need from water. And that would solve all the energy problems, but you and I both know that there would be a lot of resistance, even though there'll be fascination.

So, again, we come back to this repeated problem of how the first contact would provide the information that would be useful enough to shift the planet. But I think that in June, especially I'm looking at the date of the solstice, I think that there is going to be this kind of shift. Now, the other side is that there is a great sense of desperation developing on this planet because we know about what's going on with these wars, we know the droughts and the fires, and we know of the imbalances, and I know that everything is becoming accelerated. What the people would say, well, by 2050 the ocean is going to do this, or by 2060, the global temperature is going to rise by 1.5 degrees, that's kind of like a magic number, but look, it's happening quicker. It's happening quicker than that, because you're seeing the results now and because of this sense of desperation, a new opening a new receptivity is on the horizon, and I see this as a great possibility in June. At the same time, though, I look at June and say, if you will, things are escalating, and there could be even more dire Earth changes, there could be more dire military conflicts or escalations. But that possible outcome raises the stakes and raises the receptivity for a spiritual intervention.

Q3. Ariana in Taos USA asks:

Juliano, it was suggested to us that Gaia is leaving that she is being replaced by another spirit. Is that true? Please comment, Thank you.

Gaia is not leaving! That reminds me of the joke we hear by Mark Twain: the rumors of my death are not accurate, I'm still here. Gaia has been through worse than what is now going on. You know, the fifth mass extinction, which happened approximately 65 million years ago, destroyed 90% of the plant and animal life, 90%! That means only 10% were left. Now that was pretty dire. We're not there. We're in a mass extinction, but we're not at the mass extinction level, that was 65 million years ago, we're not at that extreme point. But Gaia survived, and the planet Earth will survive. Unfortunately, if you look at the fifth mass extinction, it took millions of years for that 10% to return to thrive. Now, we could make the argument that the removal of the dinosaurs who were dominating the planet allowed a space for humanity to emerge because humanity or homosapiens could not have emerged with the dinosaurs. For obvious reasons, the dinosaurs were extremely domineering, and it would be like the humans would be like ants, you know? So, it was not nothing that human could do to stop a dinosaur. Of course, there were no humans at the time anyway. But my point is, that Gaia is not leaving, Gaia will stay, but we can't assure you that humanity as you see it now, homo sapiens as you see it now, is going to survive. Now Gaia likes the attention. And one of the contradictions is that, as much destruction that is now going on, much abuse, much trauma to the biosphere, there is strong pockets of people like yourselves, who are interacting with Gaia, who are communicating telepathically with Gaia. So, I don't know if we can use the word "like" to describe a planetary existence or a planetary spirit, but there's no other word I could find. Gaia likes the attention that the star seems like you are giving her. That means that you are helping to support Gaia, you are helping through your communication with Gaia, you are helping to nurture her, even though it still continues to be this terrible, what I call, planetary abuse. You've heard of domestic violence. Well, here we're talking about planetary violence, planetary abuse, where the people abused the planet. But at the same time, Gaia is receiving telepathic communications from more people globally than she has ever received in the history of this planet. And it's for this reason that I say Gaia is staying.

Q4. Barton in Mexico asks:

Is Elon Musk human? Is he a star seed? His companies Tesla Electric Cars and SpaceX involve new technologies and obvious future intention that he has angelic vibes and therefore we should not be worried about him, privatizing such a large global public square information technology company such as Twitter.

Well, I use this example. Imagine a 10-year-old that has been given the secrets and vision for the future of this planet. Imagine a 10-year-old having the prophetic secrets to new technology for automobiles, new technology for space travel, and other visionary experiences and then you have a description of Elon Musk.

So, yes, he does have that. But the second part of it is that when I use the word 10-year-old, I'm saying to you that he is not spiritually evolved, he's not spiritually developed, he's not coming from higher consciousness, which means that he is focused as a businessman, he is focused on gathering power, he is focused on making money. This is not somebody who's a great humanitarian. And that's fine, I don't want to be critical of him. But you asked the question about him.

So, I would say to you: well, let's just think about this, if he has the planetary vision of a higher prophet, good, but does he have the spiritual vision of a higher prophet? Or are we are talking about the spiritual vision of somebody who's 10 years old? And how many 10-year-olds have spiritual vision?

So, that combination, lack of spiritual vision and having these secrets or access to the secrets can create a problem? And so, when someone says, should I be worried? Well, yes! It's okay to be worried. I mean, the problem is that, if we look at somebody who is humanitarian oriented, somebody who is humbled, somebody who was dealing with planetary unity, such as is portrayed in the movie, Avatar, yes, that's a great combination! Because that movie, Avatar, which I understand its sequel coming out soon, does portray a group of people who are spiritually evolved. And when people are spiritually evolved and have access to the visionary experiences of the future, then this is a great combination, but if you have somebody who has access to this, but does not have the planetary spirituality, then this could be a problem, especially when we come to talk about the ego and the ego functioning.

It would be great if we had somebody that had both the visionary experience of the new technology that is needed, because you know, he is very close, right on the button for many of it, but we need somebody that has both: the spiritual vision and the understanding of unity consciousness and the spirit of Gaia. That would make me feel more comfortable about Mr. Elon.

Q5. Bob Maldonado in USA asks:

Juliano, Archangel Metatron says that the electromagnetic grid is reduced in function as the Earth transforms into crystalline energy through the mechanism of the 144 Crystalline Grid and that the Merkabah of gender application and electromagnetism is being upshifted into a crystalline light body. Can you comment on this and how these factors into our individual preparation for the ascension, please?

Well, there is a higher spiritual technology. I mean, this is one of the main teachings of the Arcturians and our teaching is to practice the new tools of this technology, the spiritual technology, and part of the new spiritual technology is understanding that you are an electromagnetic being of light. And yes, there are grids, yes, there are crystalline, and we say that we want you or help you to raise your spiritual light quotient, your spiritual light frequency. And doing that through electromagnetic grid, doing that through electromagnetic crystals, doing that through Merkabah, this is all very useful. But remember, we come back to the earlier question of the divine feminine and the receptivity. All of this electromagnetic higher vibration is dependent upon your ability to be in sacred space and sacred time and to do sacred ceremony. So, you could have the most powerful crystalline structure, you could have the highest grids, but it still has to be the spiritual light frequency. And with that combination then yes, you can use the Merkabah, you can go into higher consciousness, you can elevate, you can go into the other realms.

There are and there is going to be more discoveries about the electromagnetic energy fields because the electromagnetic energy fields are the basis for the third dimension and there is, what I call, frequency shifting. Frequency shifting means the ability to electromagnetically shift your frequency into another realm, into another dimension. But, in order to do frequency shifting, you have to have the spiritual technology you have to have the electromagnetic upliftment to do that. And, yes, that technology is available, that technology is coming. The older prophets were able to use sacred sounds, sacred prayers, sacred mantras, sacred space to elevate their vibration into higher electromagnetic frequencies, in order to frequency shift. So, this is not new, from the sense that humanity has had profits that have taught this. It's wonderful. I emphasize approaching this with the sacred space and sacred time.

Q6. Corae in USA asks:

Is there any guidance you can offer to adults hoping to support children specifically in raising their frequency, expanding their consciousness or healing the aura?

The future of the planet is with children. And many of the children are starseeds. And many of the children need to be supported and need to be told that there are other humans, there are other advanced civilizations in this galaxy, that this is not the only planet in the galaxy that has life on it. And I suggest that we teach the children more about their starseed heritage. And there are even historically links, for example among the Cherokees, there are the native peoples who know the connections they have towards the Pleiadians. There is information that the Aztecs and the Mayans had galactic connections and understood the galactic center. So, think about Erich von Däniken and his groundbreaking work in teaching that extraterrestrials have been visiting this planet for 1000s of years, if not longer. That theme, that subject needs to be taught to the young people, we want to set the minds for the young people to grasp and to understand the nature of the galaxy, and galactic anthropology, the study of other species that exist on this planet, on this galaxy. So, the best advice I can give is, talk to the children. Even some of the great Star-Trek movies, and Star-Trek programs were very informative. And we don't want to shut the children down. One of the saddest things is that there is conditioning going on. And I call this the horse blinders phenomenon, which means that if your horse is going to race, you want blinders on the horse, so he doesn't look to the left and to the right and only look straight ahead. Well, children are often taught and put blinders on their thinking, only think this way. And we, I say we the society, often does not expand does not encourage the blinders to come off and encourage altered states of consciousness. Why are the children often so interested in drugs? Part of the reason is, out of curiosity, the part of the reason is that the children are interested in altered states of consciousness. And I think that needs to be taught to children. Why do we wait until you're in the fourth year of college to begin the exploration of psychology and altered states of consciousness? The children need to be taught that you could access altered states of consciousness, through meditation, through the repeating of sacred words, and the children need to listen to others who believe that there are other beings in this galaxy. Let's open up the conversation. Let's hear what the children are thinking at whatever age about this important theme and subject! Because the children have anxiety, somebody used the term recently, eco anxiety, which is a term that's used to describe an anxiety reaction to the ecologies. Just think for a moment how frightening it must be for children to grow up in this age where they see so much destruction, how are the children to react to the sixth mass extinction? I mean, it's beyond your comprehension. It's probably beyond the children's comprehension that we need to open up the discussion about that. And there are children now who even have solutions to some of these problems. So, we need to open up their minds to greater expansions.

I am Juliano, good day.
